

No rain on our parade!

An exuberant show of natural fireworks, in the form of a loud and brilliant thunderstorm, ushered in Canada Day, 1989, but by early morning, as the stalwart members of the Chamber of Commerce rose from their beds to stoke up the griddles for the pancake breakfast, the sun had appeared to dry off the fresh-washed world. Occasional clouds tempered the sunshine throughout the day, but once again, Elk Point can boast of perfect rainless weather for their annual July 1 celebration.

Long before the last pancake had been consumed, entries were lining up alongside the A. G. Ross Arena for the Lioness Parade. This colorful procession wound through Elk Point streets for an entire hour, with good crowds lining the sidewalk to enjoy the spectacle. Leading the parade was a representative of the local RCMP Detachment, followed by the Cold Lake Canadian Forces Band, whose musical accompaniment set the pace for marchers, riders and floats which followed.

Prize winners in this year's parade were as follows: In the Horses and Riders category, Stoney Lake Stampede Association's flag-bearing horsemen placed first, with Mayland Trail Company second. E-Can Oilfield Service's oversized chuckwagon topped the Industrial section, with Pan Canadian's float saluting industry safety practices in second place. Lakeland College's entry, with silhouetted students and an enormous cowboy placed first in the Commercial category, with the Dave's Pizza entry, surrounded by walking slices of pizza in second place, and PJ Farrier Service, with the Elk Point Saddle Slickers 4-H Horse Club alongside, in third place.

with numerous lodge members aboard, was awarded first prize in the Adult Clubs and Organizations category.

Digging into the past

The archaeological team probing deep into the history of the fur traders who inhabited the North West Company's Fort George, 11 km southeast of Elk Point, are finding a wide variety of items which will help to tell the fascinating story of life in the fort two centuries ago.

Recent finds include a silver shoe buckle, a ring with a glass stone, a cufflink, the side plate of a firearm, numerous gunflints and musket balls, obsidian projectile points, and a huge, rust caked key. All of these items have been unearthed in 'the new cellar,' as the portion of the major structure now being carefully dug up and sifted through, is called by the crew.

The digging is proceeding stratigraphically, through layers of charred wood, burned chinking clay, and more charred wood, all the way to the layer of coarse grains of glacial till which underlies the river hills. 'We're below where Kidd went,' Lab Supervisor Michele Belanger reported, referring to earlier digs on the site by Robert Kidd, which were minutely detailed in his book on Fort George.

The present dig, which has again laid bare the blackened floor boards earlier uncovered by Kidd, has also shown evidence that there may have been a shed or lean-to at the east end of the structure, where a quantity of shot, of various sizes, has been recovered.

Field Supervisor Garth Clarke thinks this building may have been 110 feet in length, and also feels the varying direction of floor boards may denote that it was divided into various rooms, which may also have been built at different times. This would have been 'the big house,' Clarke says, where major trade goods, such as weapons, trade liquor and beads, were stored, as were the furs brought into the fort to trade.

These furs were taken east by a brigade of approximately 15 six-man canoes each spring, leaving the fort in May and returning in October with more trade items after their long journey to the head of the Great Lakes.

Fort George was the centre of the fur trade in the area, the 'upper fort de prairie,' until Fort Augustus was built near the location of the modern-day Fort Saskatchewan. After that time, the establishment gradually became less prestigious, although it continued to operate for some years on a smaller scale.

The North West Company also had competition from the Hudson's Bay Company, which had established Buckingham House only a few hundred yards upstream from Fort George. Buckingham House was smaller and less secure than Fort George, which had watch towers, a palisade and block houses with which to keep the various trading groups separate. Fortunately, neither of the forts ever suffered an attack, as far as is known, unlike some of their counterparts in Saskatchewan, which fell prey to the Gros Ventre tribe.

The painstaking process of discovery will continue at the Fort George site throughout the summer, with the lab crew kept busy at their Elk Point location on 51 Ave., between 50 and 51 St., cleaning and classifying the remnants of the past as they are discovered.

The public is invited to visit the lab to view the displays and to pick up a variety of pamphlets on archaeology and historic sites. Hours are 9:30 a.m. to noon and 12:30 to 3:00 p.m., Monday through Saturday, and noon until 4:00 p.m. Sunday. Volunteers over 16 years of age may also apply to take part in a weekend of digging at the fort site, under the guidance of a professional archaeologist, until July 30.

Peewees win silver

Elk Point Peewee Girls Fastball team brought back the silver medals from the North East Alberta Summer Games in Lloydminster this past weekend, losing out in their final game to Fort McMurray.

This weekend, the team will travel to Fort McMurray for the Provincials, with their first game scheduled at 8:00 a.m. Saturday. Fourteen teams from throughout the province will be taking part in the tournament.

Good luck, girls!

The Search Goes On...

Workers at the Fort George site probe deep into the past as they carefully shovel the soil filling in a long-ago cellar into wheelbarrows ready to be sifted for any artifacts it may contain. In the background, another worker examines the ruins of a fieldstone fireplace.

Canada Day fun for all ages

Elk Point 4-H Multi Club, with a steer being groomed on the truck and a petting zoo on the float itself, was the winner in the Youth Clubs and Organizations, followed by the Ukrainian Dance Club's entry celebrating 10 years of progress, and the Fishing Lake Dancers, who square danced their way down the route, in third place.

An exceptionally handsome entry by the Elk Point Order of Royal Purple and Elks Lodges was the winner in the Adult Clubs and Organizations, with Heritage Lodge in second place and the Elk Point Historical Society, with working archaeologists aboard, in third spot.

Larry Demchuk's 1933 Ford Coupe, winner of the recent Auto Club show, had its second win of the month in the Pioneer Vehicles category. Jim Andrishak's gleaming black and white '57 Chevy Bel Air was second, and George Metrunec's 1960 Buick placed third.

Elmer Van Riper of St. Paul, with his animated wooden miniatures of a logger aboard a horse-drawn load of logs, was the winner in the Individual category. The Class of '64, celebrating their 25-year reunion with a ride in a bright red Comet convertible, decked in school sweaters and jackets and listening to the hits of the sixties, placed second, while Gentle Breeze Kennels, with a wheel equipped dogsled and four eager Huskies in the harness, rode into third place.

Westmin Resources bid farewell to Elk Point (they will now operate as Norcen Resources) with their award winning float in the Canada Day Theme category, which saluted the Canadian family. The Elk Point WunderDogs took second place, proclaiming 'Dogs Are Family Too!'

Winners from the large number of colorfully decorated bikes were Christina Penz, Melanie Johnson and Timmy Mikitka.

Color party

Canada Day activities continued throughout the afternoon and evening in Elk Point, beginning at noon with the arrival of a color party of representatives of clubs and organizations, led to the Canada Day Stage by the Cold Lake Canadian Forces Band and Cst. Al Stockley of the RCMP. Debbie Lawrence, Mathilda Fergher and Gwen Morris led the singing of O Canada.

Following a welcome by Canada Day Committee Chairman Steve Stepaniuk, invocation by Pastor J. MacLellan, and addresses by Miss Lakeland, Mayor Bruce Kleeberger, County of St. Paul Councillor Bill Ference, MLA John Drobot, Minister of Agriculture Ernie Isley and Member of Parliament Deborah Grey, the band led the crowd in the singing of Happy Birthday Canada, and Mayor Kleeberger declared the celebration open.

The flag-topped Canada Day cake was cut by Mayor Kleeberger and Councillor Stepaniuk, with the assistance of July 1 birthday celebrants Bill Ference and Minnie Moneta.

Youth awards

Chamber of Commerce Youth Awards were presented to Katharina Ludlage, a Provincial bronze medal winner in Figure Skating, Angel Ference, winner of the Miss Lakeland Pageant, Jackie Gulayec, Provincial gold medal winner in Badminton, and David Naber, who showed the Interclub Grand Champion 4-H Steer. Provincial Track and Field bronze medal winner Michael Bepalko was unable to be on hand to accept his award, as he was taking part in the North East Summer Games in Lloydminster.

Entertainment

Entertainment during the afternoon included the Canadian Champion Skippers skipping team from Bonnyville, directed by former Elk Point residents Alphie and Gail Hurtubise, St. Paul songstress Lisa Grekul, and an agility routine and flyball demonstration by the Elk Point WunderDogs.

Of course, the world-famous Elks Pie Eating Contest, hilariously color-commentated by Glen Harms, was on the agenda. Round winners Crystal Kulczycki, Mike Blanchard, David Naber, Michael O'Neill, Bruce Poitras, Lee Kadutski, Dave Thomas (all the way from Toronto!) and Sam Daniels took part in the final chow-down, with Fishing Lake resident Sam Daniels the big winner.

Contests

An addition to this year's lineup were the Old Time Fiddling and Red River Jig contests, which were enthusiastically received by the audience. While only one pair of jiggers, Angie Durocher and Dinah Crevier of the Fishing Lake Dance Club, entered the contest, several other dancers were encouraged to give a demonstration of the fancy footwork of the Red River Jig.

The Old Time Fiddling was split into Senior and Junior divisions, with Homer Poitras of Kehewin edging out Moses Cardinal of Saddle Lake in the Senior division, and Jesse Fisk, 11, winning over Raymond Robinson, 6, in the Junior section. Both Juniors are from St. Paul.

Another new feature this year was a totally revamped children's activity program. Instead of the usual races, the youngsters enjoyed a visit from two clowns, who created balloon animals and painted designs on little visitors' faces. A mini carnival with prizes for those who were skilful at dart throwing and ring tossing was also enjoyed by the younger set.

The Lions Club Dunk Tank provided hilarity for the watchers, and a cooling dip for their 'victims.' It was all in fun, of course, and funds raised will go toward ball diamond development.

Two ladies' and four men's teams took part in the exciting action of the Tug-of-War, with the Laughing Giants taking home the Oilmen's Association trophy. The Thundercats won the ladies' event.

A tasty barbecue supper, served up by the Windsor Midgets Hockey Club, and a dance and beerfest completed the full day of celebrations, as Elk Point saluted Canada's 122nd birthday in great style.

Birthday Celebrants...

Mrs. Minnie Moneta and Councillor Bill Ference, who celebrate their birthdays July 1, join Canada Day Committee Chairman Steve Stepaniuk and Mayor Bruce Kleeberger in cutting the giant birthday cake created by the OORP.

Shades of the Sixties...

The Class of '64 kicked off their 25th Reunion celebrations with this nostalgic float in the Canada Day Parade. Watch for Reunion story next week.

Auxiliary takes summer break

By Irene Magnusson

The last meeting of the season for the Elk Point Hospital Auxiliary was a short one, with thirteen members meeting Monday, June 26, for final discussions before the summer break. No meeting will be held in July, the next get-together will not take place until the fourth Monday in August, the 28th.

Minutes were dealt with, read by secretary Agnes Moroziuk, with treasurer Elsie Oryschuk giving the financial report. A donation of $150 has been received from Westmin Co., presented to president Gloria Lecopoy by Gordon McCuaig, of Westmin. A short list of items in need by Hospital departments was read by the secretary. Following discussion, it was agreed to order the two items, an addition to the computer system and an X-ray equipment article, each an asset to the staff in making patient care more efficient. The third item, a good price not being available at the moment, will be deferred until a later date, when more information is obtained.

A report on the Regional Conference at Glendon was given by Jocelyn Wannecko, who had attended on the group's behalf. She was especially impressed with one presentation, referring to what is "normal" weight, and how our weight affects our health. One Auxiliary branch canvasses for other charities, such as the Kidney Foundation. Members were urged to report their 'volunteer hours' at each meeting, along with their answer to the roll call.

The canteen was reported operating normally, although there is anticipated to be a shortage of personnel to run it, as some members will be absent. Some thoughts were given to cutting the hours (or days) the canteen would be open. All desire is to accommodate patients' needs, as much as possible, however occasionally there are days with little or no sales, and hard to justify a busy person's presence for these hours. If any change is made, there will be notification.

No volunteers were forthcoming to carry the banner in the Canada Day Parade, as many are involved otherwise.

Adella Jennisson reported on results of the "label clipping," with, so far, no conclusion drawn. For now, the group will continue to collect the labels from the designated brands, and pass them to Adella.

Diana Anderson reported on the Seniors' information Day, of June 9th, in which the group took part. As well as numerous displays, a brochure was printed, and these distributed. A sign was made and given to the High School, describing the grant offered by the Auxiliary to students qualifying by entering nurses training, from Elk Point. It was felt the Information Day was a success, and will be even more so in coming years.

Coffee, juice, and a sinfully delicious chocolate cake offered by the hospital staff closed the meeting, and the season, with members leaving on thoughts of the past year, a job well done, and forward looking to another successful season, of helping their fellow man.

Fascinating Finds...

Lab Supervisor Michele Belanger displays artifacts ranging from a silver shoe buckle to bone beads which have been found by the archaeologists now exploring the Fort George fur trading fort site.

Westmin Donation...

Gordon McCuaig of Westmin Resources presents Hospital Auxiliary President Gloria Lecopoy with a cheque for $150, to be used toward the purchase of needed items for the hospital and its patients.

Summer schedule

It's summertime, and the living is easy—or so the song goes. In the realm of newspapers, it's a busy and event-filled time, but a time when our staff members also want to join in the fun and take a few days off from time to time.

Because of this, it is especially important to let us know well ahead when events are coming up, so that we will be on hand to cover them. We would really appreciate the organizers of these events giving us a call a week or even more in advance, so we can mark them on our calendars, and possibly even give them a little advance publicity.

This doesn't mean we won't try our best to get there if you call us a day ahead, but your chances of good coverage are greatly increased if you let us know in advance. If you don't call until the events are underway, there is no guarantee that we will be able to get there.

Thank you for your cooperation, and have a great summer.

Boat safely

With the arrival of summer vacation, many of us head out to the lakes to fish, boat, water ski and enjoy the sun and sand. Unfortunately, for some of the Canadians who make lakes, rivers and oceans their vacation destination, it is a one way trip. Boating accidents claim a number of lives each year.

Boating accidents can sometimes be prevented by checking the weather before heading out on the water. No one wants to be caught out in a boat during a heavy rainstorm, or when high winds can whip up waves and swamp a small craft.

July 1 to 7 is National Safe Boating Week. During this time, the Red Cross and other organizations will strive to make the public more aware of water safety precautions which are essential for a safe water-sport outing.

By law, all small boats must have four pieces of safety equipment on board: a whistle or noisemaker with which to signal for help, a bailing device, two oars with oarlocks or two paddles, and one approved life jacket or personal flotation device for each person on board. Those operating boats without this equipment not only run a risk of being fined for their omission, they also risk the personal safety of themselves and their passengers.

A dangerous practice which is all too common is to combine boating with the consumption of alcohol. Impaired judgement and loss of balance are risky on land—in a boat, they are an accident looking for a place to happen. In 1988, 75 percent of the vessel-related drownings in Alberta involved alcohol. Also, impaired boat operation is every bit as illegal as impaired driving. Leave that cooler of beer on shore and you're a lot more likely to make it back in to the dock safely.

A very good way to learn more about water safety of all kinds is to enroll in the Red Cross Water and Small Craft Safety courses. These are available in our area—contact the Elk Point Recreation and Culture office for details.

Canada Day - how it came to be

By Irene Magnusson

Of course Canada Day will be over and gone when you read this. Even the Fourth of July will be history for this year. But I thought you might like to think a bit about how the Day got its name, and as far as that goes, how Canada got its name, too.

CANADA DAY is a fairly recent label, put onto our national celebration of Canada's birth. Commemorating the birth of the Dominion of Canada, on July 1st, 1867, the day was called the First of July, Confederation Day, Dominion Day and, naturally, July 1st. It was officially designated as Canada Day, by the Parliament of Canada, on October 27, 1982. In the usual manner we have adopted of turning every official holiday into a 'long weekend', the Canada Day holiday may be observed by closing of businesses on the first Monday of July.

That is a scheme I'm not crazy about, as I don't think we should be shuffling our country's Birthday around, just to accommodate the weekenders; however, as long as we observe it in some way, marking its special significance in our lives, I guess it won't matter what day of the week it falls on.

Searching my Canadian Encyclopedia further, I read how Canada got its name, a rather reluctant procedure. "Canada" was derived from the Huron-Iroquois word "kanata," meaning a settlement or village. Canada (or the settlement) lay south of the island in the big river, which later was named the St. Lawrence, the island on which Quebec City grew.

The island was part of Stadacona, an area ruled by a chief called Donnacona. This was referred to as the 'province of Canada,' and was soon enlarged to cover a much larger area. The old maps show it was all north of the St. Lawrence gulf and river; by 1550, other maps also applied the name to areas south of the river.

In 1535 Jacques Cartier gave the name of St. Laurent to a bay north of the Ile d'Anticosti, this gradually coming to include all of the river and gulf. (St. Laurent and St. Lawrence being the French and the English of it). Champlain called it the River of Canada, later he joined the "St. Lawrence" leaners.

Canada was considered a part - an area, perhaps - of the territory known as New France, which included a good part of what is U.S.A. today.

By 1762, the area was still not clearly defined. Some officials included the Great Lakes area, the whole of the Mississippi basin to where it joined the Illinois, all as Canada. Then the British referred to the colony as the Province of Quebec.

In 1791, the Canada Act officially divided Quebec into Upper and Lower Canada. In 1841, they were joined, to form the Province of Canada. By now the name Canada was with us, and stayed. Canada officially became a country, with the passing of the British North America Act, in 1867, with the joining of Upper and Lower Canada (now known as Ontario and Quebec) and Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, into the "Dominion of Canada."

That is the date we mark our Birthdays from, celebrating our centennial in 1967, well within our own memory. The addition of Rupert's Land extended our boundaries to the Rocky Mountains, in 1870; while the year following, 1871, saw British Columbia become a part of Canada, extending our boundaries from sea to shining sea. 1873 brought Prince Edward Island into the fold, with the arctic islands (Northwest Territories) added on in 1880. Thus we remained, for 69 years, until Newfoundland and Labrador joined the gang in 1949, one

To electors

Last Tuesday the Elk Point Hospital Board passed a Code of Conduct for Trustees. It contains the following sections that I strongly object to:

4. Trustees shall maintain absolute confidentiality of all information gained from or about the institution.

5. The duty of a trustee is towards the institution and not to the person or body who elected him. The trustee shall not vote on the instruction of the appointing or electing body nor shall he divulge board information without the authority of the board.

6. Trustees shall not communicate directly with employees who attempt to bypass the administration. The result is that the board will not be able to hold the administration responsible for the acts of the employees. Similarly, trustees shall not initiate contact with employees without going through the administrator.

8. The trustee shall educate himself to ask the administrator the right question - as distinct from providing the administrative answers.

9. No trustee shall make a public statement without the authorization of the board.

I am making this statement without the consent of the Board because I feel that these sections are contrary to the democratic process. Although I disagree with these actions I will not be able to discuss Hospital matters until I have finished getting legal advice on their appropriateness.

Sports Parents Speak Out

What has happened to our sports?

By Dianne Heathcote

As parents, we encourage our children to participate in sports. Not only do sports teach our children competitiveness, responsibility and team co-operation, but it also provides them with an excellent opportunity to socialize and meet new friends. Correct me if I am wrong. This is only my opinion of a sports team. I feel that a grave injustice has been done to many of the players on the Elk Point Pee Wee Girls softball team this season. Instead of them leaving the ballpark with a feeling of confidence and pride, these young Grade 7 players left the field with tears of intimidation and a sense of worthlessness. Let me start at the beginning. At the start of the season, two Pee Wee teams were formed. As adults, we realize that one team will always be stronger than the other. This is what sports is all about. They played through the season with each girl proud to wear her uniform and to represent her team. However, with the season coming to an end and the breeze of provincials filling the air, the scenery began to shift. The two teams were now molded together as one and an ALL STAR TEAM was formed. Who has given any one of us the right to say "you are not good enough" to play on this team? Is it fair to say to any child at the young age of twelve or thirteen that her hope and dedication throughout the year has been in vain? Not only did the All Stars attend the fundraisers, practices and games, but each and everyone of the ... what do I call them, the NON-ALL STARS, they worked equally as hard. To put the icing on the cake, a young girl from squirts was brought up, while the other Pee Wee girls were just pushed aside. I see no logical explanation for this action whatsoever. As the All Star team ventured off to Zones, another team was put together to go to their league playoffs. When I questioned the coach about sending a team of players with little or no game experience, I was told not to worry because they were going to have a practice. ONE PRACTICE the night before. My question is — Is winning so important that we have to hurt and discourage so many young people? If the two teams had remained two teams with the stronger team going to zones, none of these hearts would have been broken. Oh yes, I realize that the coaches think that by taking the best players to zones, they were paving the way for the rest to go to provincials. But they're not fooled, they know what their position will be. I guess the feelings of young people are no longer important. It has become a game of the coaches, rather than a GAME FOR the players.

Were you involved?

Dear Editor:

As a former leader of a local youth group and a concerned parent, I would appreciate it if you would print this article.

Let me ask this of the parents:

- (1) How many of your child's games have you attended in and out of town?
- (2) How many times were you willing to drive to out of town games?
- (3) How many ball meetings did you attend?
- (4) How many times did you keep score, bat balls, be a base ump, run after equipment, or give the coach an extra hand where needed?
- (5) How many meals did you miss because of ball games?
- (6) How many hours of your time have you spent organizing in and out of town games?
- (7) How many hours have you had to spend phoning all your players to organize them for a game that's had to be rescheduled because the weather hasn't co-operated?
- (8) How many long distance phone calls have you made to see if a game is still on or cancelled due to weather and then made more to try and reschedule the rained out ones?
- (9) How much gas have you burned running after equipment so your child can play ball safely?
- (10) How many hours of your free time have you given up to coach or watch your child's games?
- (11) How many times have you had to ask your boss to reschedule your work hours so you could coach ball?
- (12) How much have you lost in wages due to lost hours of work to be out coaching?
- (13) Have you called the coach and talked to him or her and really listened to their explanation on something you did not understand?
- (14) How many extra turns did you take driving because some other parent was working, had no wheels, was out in the garden or in the field or couldn't find the time to take a turn?
- (15) Have you offered or received any gas money for taking an extra turn?

(16) Are you sitting back and letting your child fill you in on the happenings?

(17) Have you figured out how to take twenty players, divide them in two teams, attend two ball tournaments that couldn't be rescheduled that were 200 or more miles apart on the same day? I'm sure if you could do this without hurting someone's feelings because he/she wanted to attend the other game you would be performing a miracle!

(18) Are you sitting on the sidelines, complaining and backstabbing to everyone but to the right people?

If you answer all these questions and answer them truthfully, do you really have any reason to complain? Do you think you can do a better job of coaching? Did you know there is a drastic shortage of these people who devote their free time to our children to aid them in their development, endeavors and their futures? Can we really afford to offend these people? NO!!

If you aren't helping out or supporting your minor ball and more importantly the people devoted to minor ball I suggest you do the rest of us a favor and next year keep your child at home! When he/she is miserable because they can't play ball, remember who's to blame.

Instead, try to see if changes could be made to better the rough spots by offering some ideas. I'm sure the association is always willing to listen to your ideas.

Last but not least to all the people and parents involved in the minor ball association, coaches, assistant coaches, umpires, base ump, score keepers and anyone else I missed, my hat is off to you! Keep up the great work with our children and may they grow up to be as supportive as you are to their children's future's. You're great and thanks for being there for my child.

A Grateful Parent

What's news at the library?

Last Thursday, June 29 was an Open House introducing "Basia Designs". This handcrafted fashion jewelry designed by Barb Croteau was viewed by a large crowd. For those of you who may have missed this display Barb has the jewelry at her home or will take orders. Also Billie Milholland's art show was still on display at the library with many visitors attending.

Last Wednesday, June 28 Miss Myshiak's grade 1 class toured the library, listened to some stories and watched the puppet show "The Little Red Hen". We enjoyed having them and hope they will come again.

Now that the Summer Holidays are finally here and everyone is thinking of going away the library has many books that will help you plan ahead.
These include such books as Canada's National Parks, Mexico on $20 a day,

Edmonton, Banff and The Practical Traveller.

Help maintain your children's reading skills over the summer and join the library Summer Reading Program. The program will be starting this week with Elementary children on Tuesday mornings at 10:00 a.m. and Preschoolers on Friday mornings at 10:00 a.m. Please come and join us. There is no charge for the program but a library card is necessary to take out material. We will be starting our Summer Thursday afternoon children's matinee July 6th at 2:00 p.m. Our feature this week will be "Denver, The Last Dinosaur".

Basia designs unique, colorful

A colorful array of one-of-a-kind jewellery drew numerous viewers to last Thursday's showing of Basia Designs at the Elk Point Public Library.

Elk Point resident Barb Croteau, creator of the unique pieces, says there are never two pairs of earrings exactly the same, as designs and color combinations vary. The earrings are multicolored so that they will coordinate with several outfits in the wearer's wardrobe, and can be made to match your favorite attire.

Ms Croteau learned the craft of modeling the jewellery from her sister, who then encouraged her to go along to the Designer Search at the Citadel Theatre, Edmonton, in March, where the two met business people interested in carrying the exquisite creations in their shops.

The pieces are modeled from a special type of clay called fimo, which is similar to porcelain. Ms Croteau's earrings feature a special heavy-duty clip with a sponge back which make them secure and comfortable at the same time.

The name, Basia Designs, which Ms Croteau has given her line of jewellery, comes from Basia, the Polish version of her given name. Like the eye-catching earrings, necklaces and brooches it represents, the name shows individuality and creativity.

Beauty by Basia...

Barb Croteau's handcrafted jewellery drew much interest from the ladies of Elk Point and district.

Hon. Peter Elzinga, Minister

Former residents compete in Barcelona

By Roger Burrows
Canadian Track & Field Association

Two former residents of Elk Point are gathering quite an international reputation for themselves and never fail to mention the community's role in their development.

On May 27 in Barcelona, Janice McCaffrey led the Canadian Team to a sixth place finish in the prestigious World Cup of Race Walking. Holly Gerke (nee Burton) made her debut on the National Team in the same meet. In the individual ranking, Gerke was 57th out of 106 starters, a fine achievement in her first international, while the veteran McCaffrey took on the best athletes in the world and was beaten by only ten of them.

Holly was introduced to Race Walking while a teacher at F.G. Miller High School in 1987. She had been a competent 800m runner in High School and kept herself in reasonable shape. But she had no experience of Race Walking at all until one day early in the year when she set about imitating the unique gait demonstrated by McCaffrey. Janice was in Elk Point with her husband Bill, an engineer with Amoco. She had represented Canada before, but was returning to serious training after the birth of son Scott.

The women knew each other vaguely from High School running competitions in Edmonton in the late 70's. Each was glad of a training partner. But when Holly first mimicked Janice's action, neither thought that it would lead to international success for them both.

This is not to say that Janice wasn't impressed. A few days later a video camera was produced and shots of Holly were added to the training footage of Janice which was sent to the latter's coach for analysis. He was enthusiastic. She had a remarkable facility for the technique and her previous track background could mean that she wouldn't be afraid of the hard work necessary. Perhaps she could train a little bit and maybe enter some local races for fun?

Well, fun it may still be, but the pair had other ideas about the "local" races! Janice began coaching in earnest as well as taking care of her own road back to the National Team. She travelled to New York in May 1987 for the World Cup, where she finished a strong 22nd, just eight months after Scott was born. It was a team picture of that event which really motivated Holly. "I'm going to be there with you next time" she told Janice.

This, from someone who had been in the sport less than three months, might legitimately have been dismissed as light-hearted dreaming. But, as Muhammed Ali once remarked "I aint bragging if you can do it!" In 1987, she tasted National competition and decided to come back for more. In 1988, now teaching in Edmonton, she had a few girls looking over their shoulder to see who was coming up fast. In early 1989, she beat some established team members, but in unimportant competitions — they'd be ready for the Trials, said the experts. In the Trials, Holly simply blew them away with a superb personal best time of 49:33 over the 10k distance to win her way fair and square onto the team. And make it to Barcelona. In just over two years. Unprecedented.

Meanwhile, Janice had also moved away from Elk Point in late 1987, but she took up residence in Calgary. She had a second child, daughter Jamie, and came back yet again, in five months this time, to take fourth in the Pan American Cup in Argentina (November 1988). She also assured her coach that he had a clear run into the 1989 World Cup with no more babies!

She won the Indoor National Championships over perennial favorite Ann Peel from Toronto. She cruised onto the team in the Trials and brought everything together in Barcelona with a magnificent 45:37, again beating Peel and joining her as the only two Canadians ever to break 46:00 for 10k.

Women's Race Walking received excellent news in the past few months. It will be held in the 1992 Olympics for the first time and will also debut in the 1990 Commonwealth Games, seven months hence in Auckland, New Zealand. Lakeland residents should check the results of those important meets. It may say Edmonton and Calgary beside the names of Holly Gerke and Janice McCaffrey, but this amazing duo had its beginnings in Elk Point and it's something that Janice and Holly don't ever miss an opportunity to talk about.

Tears Of Joy

Wake-a-thon raises funds

By: S. Hohol and R. Tychkowsky

A wake-a-thon sponsored by the local chapter of the Canadian Ukrainian Youth Association ("C.Y.M.K." as it is known amongst Ukrainians), raised over $800.00 for the underprivileged youth of Brazil. Eleven teens from the "Bonnyville and District Millennium CYMK" local, gathered June 2nd and 3rd for a 30 hour wake-a-thon in Elk Point. The funds raised will be distributed via the Ukrainian Orthodox church in Brazil, for books and other educational materials for those who would not otherwise have access to these items.

The Ukrainian people of Brazil, who emigrated there at the turn of the century, are among the most poverty-stricken in that country. The Brazilian government has contributed to discrimination and prejudice against them. As a result, education is not the same privilege or right for Ukrainians in Brazil, as is enjoyed by everyone in Canada.

It is the hope of the Canadian Ukrainian Youth Association (whose local chapter has only been together for less than 2 years), that they will be able to continue with charitable works in the future.

Wake-A-Thon Participants

Eleven teens from the Bonnyville and District Millennium CMYK participated in a Wake-A-Thon June 2nd and 3rd.
